Looking to update your glasses, or looking for your first pair? Fashion Editor Michelle Nightingale has some practical and stylish advice...

While high street opticians have suspended routine eye tests, if you have an up-to-date prescription you can still buy your glasses online. Most prescriptions are valid for years (one year, if you're over 70) and online prices are often cheaper, plus they'll be delivered to your door. With so many styles on offer, finding a new pair can be a big task at the moment. Thankfully, lots of online opticians offer virtual try-on technology. Here's our guide to finding affordable frames that

AS'S VICE: "Round face shapes can either be fairly short in length with a wider forehead, more oval shaped with even proportions. Both of these shapes look great in geometric styles, which counter a curved face structure. If your face is more short and wide, steer clear of oval or round styles as they'll make your face look even rounder. Oval faces, however, suit most frame shapes."

BIANCAS SAYS:

"A long or rectangular face has high cheekbones and a deep forehead," Bianca explains.

"This shape can be balanced by wide frames with a strong brow line. Avoid small or deep frames and opt for glasses in one even tone."
